

ดร. พุทธพร อารีประชากุล
Dr. Puttaporn Areeprachakun

ภาควิชาภูมิศาสตร์ คณะอักษรศาสตร์
จุฬาลงกรณ์มหาวิทยาลัย
Department of Geography, Faculty of Arts
Chulalongkorn University

Phone : (66) 0923157622
Email : puttaporn.a@chula.ac.th

Degree

Ph.D. (Geography)	University of Wisconsin-Madison
MSc. (Human Geography: Society and Space)	University of Bristol
B.A. (Geography)	Chulalongkorn University

Academic work

Published article

1. Areeprachakun, P. Border capitalism, disrupted: precarity and struggle in a Southeast Asian industrial zone. Journal of Borderlands Studies. 2019. 34(5). 831-832.
2. พุทธพร อารีประชากุล และพรณี ชีวินศิริวัฒน์ การศึกษาภูมินามในจังหวัดน่าน ประเทศไทย ด้วยระบบสารสนเทศภูมิศาสตร์ วารสารสังคมศาสตร์ มหาวิทยาลัยศรีนครินทรวิโรฒ 2559 19(1): 170-185.

Others

1. Areeprachakun, P. การสร้างความเป็นอื่น (ส่วนหนึ่งหรือส่วนเกิน?): กรณีแรงงานจากเมียนมาในสมุทรสาคร. อักษรศาสตร์สู่สังคม. คณะอักษรศาสตร์ จุฬาลงกรณ์มหาวิทยาลัย. 2021. (Oral presentation)
<https://fb.watch/6Fe9zFGvCh/>.
2. Areeprachakun, P. Migrant Workers in Mahachai. Podcast at Myanmar Musings on Aug 29, 2020.
<https://myanmarmusings.com/migrant-workers-in-mahachai>
3. Areeprachakun, P. The construction of othering: the study of the migrant workers from Myanmar in Thailand. Friday Forum. Centre for Southeast Asian Studies, University of Wisconsin-Madison. 2019. (oral presentation)
4. Areeprachakun, P. The construction of othering: the study of the boundaries between migrant workers from Myanmar and Thai people in Samut Sakhon Province, Thailand. Association for

- Asian Studies in Asia (AAS-in-Asia) Annual Meeting, Bangkok, Thailand, July 1-4, 2019. (oral presentation)
5. Areeprachakun, P. The construction of othering: the study of the migrant workers from Myanmar and the boundaries and relationships between migrant workers from Myanmar and native-born people in Samut Sakhon province, Thailand. American Association of Geography (AAG) Annual Meeting, Washington DC, USA, April 3-7, 2019. (oral presentation)
 6. Areeprachakun, P. The construction of Othering: the study of the migrant workers from Myanmar in Thailand in relation to the managers of unease. Conference of Thai Studies. University of Wisconsin-Madison. 2019. (oral presentation)
 7. Areeprachakun, P. Social networks, Division of labor and the migrant workers from Myanmar. Conference of Thai Studies. University of Wisconsin-Madison. 2018. (oral presentation)
 8. Areeprachakun, P. The Space of Minorities and the Racialized Boundary: The Study of a Burmese Migrant Labor in Mahachai, Thailand. 13th International Conference on Thai Studies. Chiang Mai, Thailand, July 15-18, 2017. (oral presentation)

Education

August 2014 – June 2020

Doctoral degree at University of Wisconsin-Madison, USA

Program : Geography (major in Human Geography)

Dissertation : The construction of othering: the study of the migrant workers from Myanmar and the boundaries and relationships between migrant workers from Myanmar and native-born people in Samut Sakhon province, Thailand

Advisor : Ian Baird

October 2011- December 2012

Master degree from University of Bristol, UK

Degree : Master of Science

Program : Human Geography: Society and Space

Dissertation : King Taksin Park: an ordinary therapeutic landscape in Thailand

Relevant Courses : Interrogating Cultural Landscape, Researching Society and Space, Theorizing Society and Space, Social Statistics, After-neoliberalism?, Contemporary Debate in Human Geography

Advisor : Veronica Della Dora

2007-2010

Bachelor degree from Chulalongkorn University, Thailand

Degree : Bachelor of Arts

Major : Geography

Award : First Class Honor

Topics of interest

- The relation between population, society and culture
- International migration, domestic migration, and politics of migration/immigration
- Social, economic and spatial inequality, race and class in society and regional development
- Migrant workers, racialization, boundaries, performativity, performative bordering practices
- Migrant workers from Myanmar and Burmese studies in Thailand
- Political space for protesters